

Truman Urges Senate To Approve Alliance

Says It Will Save West, Bring Peace

Washington, April 12—(AP)—President Truman urged the Senate today to help western Europe ward off "brutality and aggression" by pledging United States partnership in the Atlantic pact. Such action, he said, would be a long step "on the road to peace."

Thus as he began his fifth year as the nation's chief executive, Mr. Truman pointed anew to his belief that an enduring peace is an obtainable goal.

"This treaty," he said, "makes clear the determination of the people of the United States and of our neighbors in the North Atlantic community to do their utmost to maintain peace with justice and to take such action as they may deem necessary if the peace is broken."

The President submitted the mutual defense agreement for Senate ratification only eight days after the historic document was signed here by Secretary of State Acheson and the foreign ministers of 11 other nations.

The peaceful objectives of the mutual aid pact also were stressed by Secretary of State Acheson in a separate report to the President.

Acheson went on to repeat previous assurance that there is no "automatic commitment" for this nation to go to war in an effort to help an alliance member under attack. He said the treaty poses an obligation upon each party to use its honest judgment as to action it deems necessary to "restore and maintain the security of the North Atlantic area."

One For All, All For One
The "essence" of the agreement, he said, is the "recognition of the fact that an armed attack on any of the North Atlantic nations is in effect an attack upon them all directed squarely against our common Democratic way of life."

While the Senate is expected to approve the treaty by a large margin when it is finally brought to a vote, there were prospects of long debate ahead before the showdown ballot.

Many senators have been demanding that the administration furnish estimates of the cost of helping rearm western Europe at the same time they are considering the treaty itself.

On that score, Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader said: "the administration is floundering with fate" by not telling the lawmakers "what it is going to cost to implement this treaty."

Mr. Truman did not touch on the arms issue in his special message, but he has said that the military aid program will be submitted after it has been cleared by the budget bureau and other agencies concerned.

States Reds Were Taught To Incite Civil War In U.S.

New York, April 12—(AP)—American communists were taught to incite civil war in the United States if this country became embroiled in war with Russia, a government witness testified today.

The witness, Herbert A. Philbrick, said such instructions were given at a five-member communist party unit to which he belonged in the Boston area.

Philbrick, F.B.I. informant in the communist movement for nine years, told the jury in the communist conspiracy trial that the "Marxist leader" for the unit was "Martha Fletcher" of Beacon Hill in Boston.

Using "the history of the communist party of the Soviet Union" as a text, she defined an "unjust war" as one occurring between the United States and Russia, Philbrick said.

"She pointed out," he testified, "that in such an incident it would be the duty of the communist party to fight against an unjust war and in such a case the imperialist war should be converted into a civil war."

Fails In Attempt To Burn Down Jail

Hopkinton, Ill., April 12—(AP)—It cost Fred Hardwick, 22, of Rossville, Ill., $40 and tear-filled eyes to get out of jail today.

Hardwick was arrested on a charge of drunken driving and taken to jail yesterday.

Police Chief Roscoe Fawcett said Hardwick tried to smoke himself out of the clinic by setting the bed clothes and cell afire. After the blaze was put out, Fred paid $15 for damage to city property and $25 for driving while intoxicated.

Contend U.N. Not Place To Air Clergy Trials

New York, April 12—(AP)—The United Nations assembly turned aside Soviet protests today and approved a full airing of the trials of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty and 15 Bulgarian Protestant clergymen.

The vote was 30 to 7, with 20 nations abstaining.

This was a bigger number of countries abstaining than usual on a vote of such importance. There was speculation that some wavering delegations had been influenced by the Scandinavian countries, who declared the issues should be taken up under the Hungarian and Bulgarian peace treaties before coming to the U.N.

The assembly stopped its argument for a moment of silence in memory of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, one of the founders of the U.N. This was the fourth anniversary of the death of the wartime president.

Then the talk went on. The question of the various trials, tied up in one package, now goes to the assembly's 58-nation special political committee for action. After

Seeing Eye Dogs Not Given Away For Match Covers

Morristown, N.J., April 12—(AP)—Seeing Eye, Inc., said today it was trying to stamp out rumors that seeing eye dogs can be obtained by collecting cigarette wrappers.

Henry A. Colgate, president of the organization which supplies guide dogs for the blind, said similar false reports have been circulated for the past 10 years.

He added that "seeing eye dogs cannot be obtained through collection of match folder covers, cellophane strips from cigarette packages or any other article."

Colgate said any blind person between the ages of 16 to 55 who wants a seeing eye dog should communicate directly with the seeing eye here.

No blind person who is otherwise eligible is ever denied a seeing eye dog for lack of funds, he said.

Threatens Charges Of Conspiracy For All 'Tax Strikers'

Chicago, April 12—(AP)—The Cook county state's attorney's office warned Chicago real estate owners today that their threatened "tax strike" may lead to charges of criminal conspiracy.

A resolution recommending the strike was passed yesterday by the West Side Real Estate board representing property owners controlling an estimated 300,000 rental units.

The property is situated in an area which pays an annual real estate tax bill of about 374 million dollars.

Threats of criminal prosecution came from first assistant state's attorney Edwin T. Green.

"We are investigating the facts surrounding the proposal for a tax strike to ascertain any violations of the criminal law along the lines of the conspiracy statute," he declared.

Tax bills for 1948, now being mailed to home owners in Chicago and the suburbs, started the trouble. Taxpayers had expected an increase of 17 per cent, but some complained the hike was as much as 35 per cent.

GATH WEDDING DATE

Sterling, Ill., April 12—(AP)—John Simantel, 88, and his wife, 83, observed their 64th wedding anniversary quietly at their home today.

Both were born at Dwight and have resided here since 1899.

Ask Leopold Be Freed To Do Cancer Research

Springfield, Ill., April 12—(AP)—Two university staff members today asked the Illinois pardon board to free Nathan Leopold, 1924 thrill killer, so he could use his "brilliant mind" in cancer research.

But John S. Boyle, state's attorney of Cook county, said the 44 year old slayer of Bobbie Franks should not be given a cut in his 99 year prison sentence. Boyle said:

that it comes back into the assembly for a final round.

Australia and Bolivia raised the question in the U.N. last month after the convictions of the religious leaders behind the Iron curtain. The United States seconded the idea but indicated today the Americans have not made up their mind just what should be done.

A Polish delegate, Jan Drohojowski, hit at Francis Cardinal Spellman in the Russian bloc campaign against discussing the issue in the U.N. in the midst of a long blast at Mindszenty, Drohojowski told the assembly.

"Subversive plans, based on the assumption of an early third world war, have been made in the most immediate neighborhood of St. Patrick's Cathedral under the protection of the purple of his eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman," archbishop of New York.

Cardinal Spellman was among the first of many religious and other leaders in the United States who denounced the conviction of Cardinal Mindszenty by the Communist government of Hungary last February.

Czechoslovakia, Soviet Russia, Yugoslavia and White Russia joined Poland in the fight to prevent the assembly from taking up the cases of Mindszenty and of 15 Bulgarian clergymen. All were convicted of crimes against their states.

Will Pay Final Homage To Kathy In Services Today

San Marino, Calif., April 12—(AP)—Final homage will be paid tomorrow to a golden-haired little girl whose tragic death in the depths of an abandoned well shocked a world.

The Rev. Bertrand R. Crist of the San Marino Congregational church will conduct funeral services for three-year-old Kathy Fiscus in the Little Stone Church of an Alhambra mortuary. Interment will be in Glen Abbey Memorial Park at Chula Vista, Calif., the home of Kathy's grandparents.

The child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David H. Fiscus, named as honorary pallbearers five close family friends who participated in the rescue race that failed.

Heading the list is Donald T. Metz, a contractor who was among the first to reach the 14-inch shaft into which Kathy fell while playing.

The boy's father, Joseph Goodman, was arrested, and Chief Anderson said the abduction "looks like a hoax and smells bad."

Goodman, 39, was booked on suspicion of grand theft in connection with a $400 wrist watch robbery. But he was being questioned mainly about the alleged kidnapping.

The boy was released unharmed and in secrecy yesterday after his mother, Mrs. Mary Goodman, said she handed two envelopes to a man in a Los Angeles building. Goodman said there was $33,000 in the envelopes, reported Anderson, adding, however, that Mrs. Goodman said she never opened them after getting them from a bank safety deposit vault on Goodman's instruction.

3rd Vice-President In Week Resigns His Post At Wards

Chicago, April 12—(AP)—Albert Steffey, vice-president in charge of retail stores for Montgomery, Ward and Company, today handed in his resignation to Sewell Avery, chairman.

Steffey said he wanted to see Avery during the day, but Avery was not around. Then, late in the afternoon, Steffey left a written resignation in Avery's office.

In the resignation, Steffey said, "I had sincerely hoped that I could continue to work for Ward's. However, the disrupted and unstable condition that has arisen in the office group convinces me that there is no more security at present than there has been in the past."

Steffey was the third vice-president to resign this week. There is only one vice-president left, Willard Sahlhoff, who was appointed last summer to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of another vice-president. Last year at this time the company had nine vice-presidents.

Royall Charges Unification Law Is Too Weak, Expensive

By William O. Varn
Washington, April 12—(AP)—Secretary of the Army Royall today blasted the present armed services unification law as too weak and a cause for "serious alarm" in event of war.

Further, Royall told Congress, the law cost the country one billion dollars in savings this year because it didn't give the secretary of defense enough authority over the Army, Navy and Air Force.

In fact, he said, it is "worse" than unification at all.

"We are worse prepared today to meet an emergency than before we

Many Pay Tribute To F. D. Roosevelt On Date Of Death

Hyde Park, N.Y., April 12—(AP)—A representative of President Truman placed a wreath on the grave of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt today—Fourth anniversary of his death.

The president's tribute, a fern wreath, was placed on the grave by Col. Perry Smith of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and son Elliott stood nearby during the ceremonies. They were joined for later ceremonies by Mrs. Elliott (Faye Emerson) Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. John Roosevelt, and Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr.

Accompanying Smith for the ceremony was an honor guard of one officer and two enlisted men from the academy.

Immediately after President Truman's wreath was laid on the grave, wreaths from Winston Churchill and Bernard Baruch were placed.

Columnist Drew Pearson placed a wreath on behalf of the French government and former secretary of the treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr. placed one in the name of the Roosevelt Memorial foundation.

In New York City, the United Nations assembly stood in silence for one minute in memory of the late President.

Cops Think Story Of Boy's Kidnaping 'Looks Like Hoax'

Beverly Hills, Calif., April 12—(AP)—Five-year-old Joey Goodman is back home after a reported $32,000 kidnaping, but Police Chief C. H. Anderson said there was a "lot of doubt" today about: (a) the $32,000; and (b) the kidnaping.

The boy's father, Joseph Goodman, was arrested, and Chief Anderson said the abduction "looks like a hoax and smells bad."

Goodman, 39, was booked on suspicion of grand theft in connection with a $400 wrist watch robbery. But he was being questioned mainly about the alleged kidnapping.

Man Who Killed 2 Boys, Ate Flesh Of One Gets Death

Bremen, Germany, April 12—(AP)—A death sentence was passed tonight upon a German ship steward who confessed he had killed two boys and shared the flesh of one at a family meal.

The steward is Bodo Fries, 39. A German court convicted him of premeditated murder. Fries was not charged with cannibalism because that crime is not listed in German legal code.

Fries told the court calmly that he killed Ernst Spenger, 12, in 1945, and Wolfgang Windrat, 9, in 1947, and that he served some of Wolfgang's to his family as pork.

"I just had the urge to kill someone," he said. "I just had to do it." The Parents of both the slain boys were in court.

Dr. Erwin Schulte, a neurologist, testified Fries was sane and responsible for his actions.

Urges New Yorkers To Aid Effingham

New York, April 12—(AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer today urged New Yorkers to contribute funds for rebuilding St. Anthony's hospital in Effingham, Ill., destroyed in a fire that cost 74 lives.

The mayor made the request after receiving a letter from Dr. D. A. Niccum, president of the Effingham Civic Foundation, Inc.

Dr. Niccum wrote that the foundation was "swamped with inquiries" from New Yorkers wishing to contribute toward rebuilding the hospital.

had unification," Royall told the Senate armed services committee.

The committee is considering changes in the compromise act passed in 1947. In effect, Royall asked that he be demoted. As one step in giving the secretary of defense more power, he urged that the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force be made undersecretaries.

Royall said that what is needed is strong one-man direction of the defense establishment. He said the secretary of defense should be given power—with approval of the president—to effect "real unification" for better security and economy.

The secretary said this should include power to "abolish the Marine Corps and make it part of the Army" if necessary, and to settle the air power battle between the Air Force and the Navy.

When he mentioned that a billion dollars could have been saved this year by such a provision, Senator Saltonstall (R-Mass.) asked whether Royall was questioning the wisdom of existing unification under the 1947 act.

"I more than question it. I think it's undesirable," Royall shot back. Speaking of savings that could be effected, Royall differed, however, with former President Hoover's criticism of defense planning and spending. Hoover told the committee yesterday that there was waste, duplication and lack of proper planning and control in the defense set-up.

The president's tribute, a fern wreath, was placed on the grave by Col. Perry Smith of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and son Elliott stood nearby during the ceremonies. They were joined for later ceremonies by Mrs. Elliott (Faye Emerson) Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. John Roosevelt, and Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr.

War Crimes Court Convicts 14 Nazis For Killing Jews

Nuernberg, Germany, April 12—(AP)—A U. S. war crimes court announced today the conviction of 14 former Nazi government officials of crimes against humanity in the murder of 6,000 Jews.

The vote of the three judges was two to one.

The majority reasoning was that the man who signs a death warrant is as guilty as the man who pulls the trigger.

All the 14, the court held, helped Hitler carry out history's most systematic program of race extermination. Only seven of the 21 defendants in this closing American war crimes case escaped conviction on that count.

The court put it this way: "If the commanders of the death camps who blindly followed orders to murder the unfortunate inmates, if those who carried out the orders for the deportation of Jews are properly tried, convicted and punished—and of that we have no question—then those who, in the comparative peace and quiet of ministerial departments, aided the campaign by drafting the necessary decrees, regulations and directives for its execution are likewise guilty."

Labor Party Plans To Give More Big Business To Public

London, April 12—(AP)—The Labor party said today it will put five more big businesses under public ownership if it wins Britain's 1950 election.

The party's executive committee, in its 25,000-word policy statement, marked cement, life insurance, sugar, making and refining, private and municipal water companies and "all suitable minerals" for nationalization.

Nationalization of the chemical industry also was promised if it becomes necessary "to assure vital national interests."

Development of municipal or other public ownership of fruit and vegetable wholesale marketing was forecast, along with government industries to compete with private business where necessary to control monopolies.

Businesses affected quickly declared they would fight.

Indiana Refuses To Free Van Zant For Trial In Ill.

Paris, Ill., April 12—(AP)—State's Attorney Wilson Dwyer said today Indiana had refused to surrender custody of Edgar Van Zant, Paris elevator operator accused of embezzling soybeans from Illinois and Indiana farmers.

Dwyer said he had received through Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois a letter from Gov. Henry Schricker of Indiana, stating that Indiana authorities are determined to bring Van Zant "to justice at the earliest possible date."

Schricker suggested that if Van Zant is convicted in Indiana, Illinois authorities place a detainer on him as the Indiana state prison.

Van Zant is free on $5,000 bond pending hearing in Vermillion county circuit court at Newport, Ind. Charges he faces there include embezzling 1,023 bushels of soybeans from Jams Perona of Clinton, Ind., and 542 bushels of soybeans from Ernest Kalsner of Universal, Ind.

Say Billion Will Only Start To Rearm Europe

House Passes 5 Billion Aid Plan For Europe

Washington, April 12—(AP)—By a vote of 354 to 48, the House today passed a $5,380,000,000 bill to continue the Marshall plan of European recovery for another 15 months.

The vote came after 13 hours of debate. It took the Senate 13 days to pass a similar measure setting a $5,580,000,000 limit on the spending.

The Senate vote was 70 to 7.

The Democratic-controlled House, with some Republican support, beat down every attempt to strike millions of dollars from the bill or write in other major changes.

The House measures would authorize continued U.S. aid until July 1, 1950, subject to possible later cuts by the Senate and House appropriations committees.

It also provides $272,000,000 to encourage American private business to invest in recovery projects abroad. Such investments would be guaranteed against loss by confiscation of property overseas.

Differences between the Senate and House versions—a matter of $200,000,000 plus some minor amendments—will now go to a joint conference.

The compromise version will then be subject to a new vote in each chamber.

As the next step, the appropriations committees will recommend the actual money bill for approval by both houses.

Before final passage, four and one-half hours after the House met at 11 a. m., the lawmakers rejected an amendment by Rep. Fogarty (D-R.I.) to withhold Marshall plan funds to England as long as North Ireland is held separate from Ireland (Eire).

The lysoidal final vote came after majority leader McCormack (D-Mass.) pleaded against a GOP-led economy drive with a warning that the world is looking "either to Washington or the Kremlin."

District Judge Harvey L. Neelen granted the continuance at the request of Atty. Arthur Richter over the objection of Dist. Atty. William McCauley.

Richter said "something happened just now—today—that makes a continuance necessary. He did not elaborate."

Prior to Richter's statement, Atty. Edward Berkanovic, also representing Babich, had asked for a delay of one week to ten days. McCauley protested immediately.

Chicago, April 12—(AP)—Michael Angelo's faith in American justice was shaken today. A housing court fined him $25 after he told of sheltering a homeless Chinese couple and their four children.

A kind hearted American citizen of Italian origin, Angelo just couldn't understand.

"I know these people, they are my friends," he exclaimed. "They have no place to go. Why should I pay a fine?"

The court decided that Angelo was charging Mr. and Mrs. Allen Shu, rent for basement rooms the building department had ruled unsuitable for living quarters. Angelo and the Shus denied they were paying rent and a Salvation Army captain said they were telling the truth.

Angelo said he had known the Shus a long time before they were evicted from the building that was their home and laundry.

"What could I do?" he asked. "I just took them in."

Endurance Fliers Aloft 650 Hours

Fullerton, Calif., April 12—(AP)—Endurance fliers Bill Barris and Dick Reidel showed signs of fatigue today after being aloft more than 650 hours, but expressed confidence they will be able to reach their goal of 1000 hours in the air.

If everything goes well they will equal the world record of 726 hours by 5:45 p.m. (PST) Thursday.

Their only trouble so far has been the loss of their plane's tail wheel.

State Senate Defeats 'Official Conduct' Bill

Springfield, Ill., April 12—(AP)—Illinois senators defeated the Chicago crime commission's "official conduct" bill today, and House members stepped up their anti-Red drive.

With 26 votes needed for passage, the crime commission bill got only 11 for and 17 against. The bill would outlaw and blacklist public officers or employees who refuse to testify before a grand jury about office matters because they fear they might incriminate themselves.

Failure to waive such immunity would be penalized by forfeit of the officer's job and by barring him from a public paid job for five years.

Opponents contended the bill would take from public officers the constitutional right which is available to all other persons. Proponents said the public welfare is more important and the public has a right to know about official matters.

Europe Must Arm Itself, With U.S. Aid

By Wes Gallagher
Berlin, April 12—(AP)—How much would it take to rearm western Europe to withstand Soviet aggression?

This is a question the United States will consider in giving arms aid under the North Atlantic treaty.

Figures of $1,000,000,000 or $1,250,000,000 have been mentioned as a start. It is difficult to see where these sums would provide much more than a start.

Materially and Mentally
Fundamentally, western Europe must rearm itself, materially and mentally. This is the situation as it now stands:

If there should be a future war, many assume it would start here in Germany. Here east meets west across the center of the country. Here the biggest stakes could be won quickly. From the Elbe river west is the quickest route to the Atlantic. The Germans are disarmed and presumably would be no help to either side.

What have the Russians now? Best estimates place their troops in Germany at slightly more than 30,000, perhaps representing 20 divisions. Some of these divisions are skeletons of 3,000 or 4,000 men. However, they could be filled quickly from reservoirs of manpower in the east.

SECOND-CLASS POSTAL INCREASE
NIGHT DAMAGE PUBLIC INTEREST

When Congress instituted the low second-hand mail rate for newspapers and periodicals, some 70 years ago, the main purpose was not to subsidize the publishers. It was argued at the time that the subsidy would make it possible for the reader to get news and information at a more reasonable cost.

That argument came to mind as we looked at an article in the current issue of Collier's magazine. The article appeared, by chance, as Congress was considering an increase in the second-class rate. It consisted of 101 questions and answers on cancer, prepared by the American Cancer Society from hundreds of questions put to the society and family doctors by laymen, and timed to coincide with Cancer Control Month.

The article ran four pages, and it cost the Cancer Society nothing. But if the society had undertaken to mail out those four pages to the public that the magazine reaches (about 3,000,000 circulation) the bill would have been considerable, even without printing costs. If the cost of paper and envelopes, addressing and mailing (unsealed and third class) was 4 cents each, that would be $120,000.

If the society had bought the same four pages at the magazine's advertising rate the price might have been close to one-third of the mailing cost. And if it had dressed its information up in color, as Collier's did, the bill would have been even bigger.

In other words, from $40,000 to $120,000 might have been diverted from the cancer research, perhaps, or some other vital activity in the same field to give the public the answers to its most frequent questions about the disease.

What has all this to do with mail rates? Two things, it seems to us. One is that the article in question is typical of the public service that newspapers and magazines have given the public through the years at a very moderate cost. That is not to say that this particular kind of service is a daily or weekly or monthly feature of any publication. But it does illustrate a general type of service. And it happened along at an opportune time to emphasize a point.

The other connection with mail rates is that this type of service would not come to the public so cheaply with a postal increase. Many if not most publications would have to raise their subscription rates—and absorb a loss in the meantime, if an increase was made effective immediately. Some smaller periodicals might be driven out of business.

The Reader's Digest has revealed that its present mailing cost is less than a half-cent and its profit a little over a half-cent a copy. Its new rate would raise the mailing charge by 2.1 cents a copy. The Crowell-Collier publications figure that their new rate would cost them $5,000,000 a year. The company's net profit last year was approximately $2,500,000. And so on.

It seems to us that the Post Office Department, in the interest of fairness and good bookkeeping, might deduct the cost of sending millions of pieces of free government mail all over the country and then see how much of its annual deficit is traceable to the second-class subsidy.

Congress might also examine the recommendations of the Hoover Commission for the Post Office Department and consider how they might help reduce operating expenses. We have a feeling that if these things were done, any necessary increase might be more bearable and more in keeping with the interests of publishers and public.

Farm Advisers Begin Building 4-H Camp

Dick Lyons, state camp consultant, University of Illinois, Farm Adviser E. H. Garlich and Fay H. Root, camp engineer, discuss the plans for the new kitchen and dining hall to be built at Lake Jacksonville. Twenty-three farm advisers and youth assistants from 12 west central Illinois counties launched the building program Monday.

Roy K. Wise, left, and Ansel K. Hare, farm adviser and youth assistant of Schuyler-Brown counties, were pretty proud Monday of their job of digging the foundation for the fireplace which will adorn in the east central wall of the new dining hall. The spade handler standing in the trench directly behind Hare is C. T. Kibler, Jersey county farm adviser.

PORTRAIT OF A MAYOR

BY THOMAS F. MITCHELL

(Editor's Note—This is the first of two intimate closeups of candidates for mayor of the city election next Tuesday, April 19. An article on John S. Wright, Democratic candidate, written by Mr. Mitchell, will appear tomorrow.)

Standing on the platform of the Franklin school, during his recent successful campaign for the Republican nomination for mayor, his hands deep in his blue worsted suit coat pockets, his feet firmly set apart, and his eyes surveying the audience from behind his rimless spectacles, Ernest L. Hoagland might have been taken for one of the school's teachers rather than the mayor of Jacksonville.

His voice was strong and sincere and he did not falter in his words as he made his campaign address for re-election and described the accomplishments and plans of his administration to the voters of the third ward.

He stood off to one side of the platform, straight and as tall as his medium height allowed, and practically his only movement during the speech was in his hands. This shifting of his hands was the only sign of nervousness that this man, whose body had begun to assume the portly lines of middle age, exhibited.

In emphasizing a point he would nod his head slightly, and the people in the front of the auditorium noticed his receding hair line, which was accentuated by the flat, straight-back manner in which his dark brown hair was combed. As he spoke, he recognized that he had an enthusiasm for city government.

First Elected in 1941
The election April 19 will mark the third time Hoagland, who was born 43 years ago on a farm three miles outside of Jacksonville, is seeking election to the $2,000 per year position as mayor of Jacksonville. He was first elected to the office in 1941, re-elected in 1945, and is now waging a campaign for the office against the Democratic nominee, John S. Wright, an Illinois College professor. Hoagland won the G. O. P. nomination from A. E. Williamson, the Republican county chairman, by a majority of 400 votes.

"Ernie," as he is called by his wife, Ruth, and his fellow-workers in the composing room of the Jacksonville Journal-Courier, names as the instigator of his political battles, not his mother-in-law, but his father-in-law.

Hoagland first became interested in local civic affairs in the 1930's through reading the newspaper reports of the council meetings and printing campaign material for both party's candidates at his own job printing plant at 235½ West State street.

In 1937, there were two aldermanic seats open in the Fourth Ward and only one G. O. P. candidate seeking the nomination. Hoagland filed for the nomination, but a few days later a third Republican filed.

Hoagland was about to withdraw from the race when his father-in-law interceded. Ruth's father, W. M. Williamson, who died in 1939, was employed as engineer at the State Hospital for 35 years, through periods of both Democratic and Republican administration at Springfield. But Mr. Williamson was always a firm Republican himself. Mr. Williamson laid the law down to his son-in-law, "You're not going to withdraw from the campaign. If the voters don't want you, they'll let you know at the polls."

Resigned as Alderman
The voters let Hoagland know that they did want him and elected him to the council. Immediately after this election, the tenure of office was changed from two to four years, with half the councilmen being elected every two years. A drawing was held to decide which aldermen would serve only two years in order to inaugurate the split system of election, and Hoagland drew one of the two year terms. In 1939, he was re-elected to a four year term, but had only served two years when in 1941, in an upset victory, he won the Republican nomination for mayor and the election which followed. Shortly before taking office as mayor, he resigned his office as alderman.

Whenever his wife, Ruth, complains because the irregular hours often caused by his duties as mayor disturbs her meal schedule, Ernie can reply, "It's all your father's fault."
Hoagland's home life at 1009 West Lafayette is a musical one, both literally and figuratively. His 13-year-old daughter, Charlotte, who attends the junior high school, rises at 6:00 every morning to practice on the upright piano in their comfortable living room. Charlotte, who is also an avid basketball fan, has been taking piano lessons for five years, but the mayor's own musical talents seemed to be confined to tinkering with a clock with musical chimes.

The large clock, which hangs in the Hoagland sun porch, is the family joke, for since the mayor put his talents to it, the minute hand of the clock will make a complete circle in approximately one minute instead of sixty. As the chimes don't have the opportunity to finish tolling off one hour before another one is up, according to the rapidly moving minute hand, the result is a continual "ding-dong, ding-dong." Mrs. Hoagland, who enjoys teasing her husband, will not allow a visitor to leave the house until he had had the opportunity of watching Hoagland's masterwork in action.

Works as Lino Operator
Ernest L. Hoagland, the L. stands for Lefterd, his mother's maiden name, and Ruth Wilkinson were married in 1929, while Ernie was working as a linotype operator on the Illinois State Journal in Springfield. Shortly after their marriage, their doctor suggested that Ruth, a Jacksonville girl, be taken to a different climate for her health.

The 23-year-old bridegroom corresponded and secured a position on a newspaper in Albuquerque, New Mexico. The Hoaglands settled there in an apartment not far from the University of New Mexico.

The mayor's education, including his informal vocational education in printing, was all secured in Jacksonville. At the age of eight his father died and his mother and his brother Warren and he moved from the rural farm into Jacksonville.

Young Hoagland, while in high school, worked afternoons for Wallace Gibbs in the old printing shop at 235½ West State street. In 1932, after he was discharged from the New Mexico newspaper because of the depression inspired cut-back in employees, he returned to Jacksonville and purchased this same shop, which he ran until 1948 when he sold it and went to work as a job printer for the Journal-Courier.

After he graduated from Jacksonville High school in 1933, Hoagland attended Illinois College for one year, which his wife, incidentally, also attended for one year.

When he left Illinois College, Hoagland returned to his job with Mr. Gibbs and then moved over and finished his apprenticeship and secured a union card at the Journal-Courier.

In his present job back again at the Journal-Courier, Hoagland works from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., with Sundays and Mondays off. During the day he receives many phone calls from visitors concerned with civic matters, and in his friendly manner he usually solves their difficulties without interrupting the work he is doing. Each week day, as soon as he's washed the printer's ink off his hands and dressed, he walks the few hundred feet from the newspaper building to the city hall and begins to tackle the problems that arise in the administration of the city.

Signs 800 Papers Per Month
The mayor estimates that he signs over 800 city documents every month, including ordinances, pay checks and city correspondence. He must appoint and act as ex-officio chairman of 13 council committees. He must attend council meetings and all important committee meetings in order to fulfill his duties competently. In addition, the mayor never refuses, unless he has a conflicting engagement, to attend and speak at the many civic, commercial and social functions to which he is invited, such as the opening of a new business establishment, the anniversary meeting of some fraternal organization, or a local businessmen's dinner.

Even at home his responsibilities follow him, and Mrs. Hoagland reports that there is rarely an evening when someone isn't around to see the mayor at home, not to mention the telephone calls, which often run into the a.m. hours. During the past winter's ice storms, the mayor's home phone was ringing constantly with complaints of broken wires and dark houses.

As the mayor expressed it himself, "You can't run the mayor's office from eight to five. It's a 24-hour job." His wife, Ruth, nodded her head in a strong affirmation.

Many people would wonder, aside from the $2,000 a year, why anyone would want such a job as mayor. Hoagland's answer to this may be found primarily in his belief in every citizen's civic responsibility.

"Besides," he said, "being mayor is a wonderful experience in the study of human nature. It really gives you a liberal education."

Despite the time-consuming office of mayor, Hoagland holds active membership in the local Elks and Knights of Pythias, and regularly attends Centenary Methodist church. He is also a vice-president of the Illinois Municipal League, of which Jacksonville is one of 732 member cities ranging in size from Chicago to the small prairie hamlet.

Booster For Light Plant
The municipal light plant is the mayor's pet project and it was partly to insure this of nonpartisan operation that he first ran for mayor. He proudly states that the record shows that under his administration the light plant has been operated on the nonpartisan basis which he pledged himself to follow.

When asked how he happened to become a Republican, and what he personally looked forward to in political life if he was re-elected, the mayor broke into one of his frequent and engaging smiles. "My father was a good Republican, although he never held any office," Hoagland said, "and I was born a Republican, just as if it were a religion."

OLD ROMAN ALTAR FOUND IN SPOLETO
Spoleto, Italy —(P)—Tombs and sculptures of the early Christian centuries were discovered here recently in the basilica of Saint Gregory the Great.

While workmen demolished a baroque altar in the basilica, they discovered a Roman marble altar that bore sculptures around the base, and a hollow in the upper part. It is believed that the altar was part of a Roman temple upon which the basilica was built.

Early Christian tombs were discovered in front of the southern side of the basilica.

POLES PUSH WESTERN PRODUCTION

Warsaw—(AP)—Poland says she is getting 25.4 percent of her total industrial production out of former German lands.

Leopold Gluck, former vice-minister for the western territories which Poland absorbed from Germany said industrial output is continuing to rise steadily.

Gluck reported the former German lands accounted for 21 percent of Poland's total production in 1947 and 24.4 percent in 1948. He added that distribution of industry in the western territories still was very uneven, due to widespread war destruction.

The government estimated in 1945 that 400,000 workers were needed to set industries in operation in the western lands. Gluck said 200,000 of these workers were on the job there by the end of 1946 and another 100,000 was added by 1947. Since then, the number of workers has risen steadily.

SKIPPER PROJECTS "WAR" TRIP

Berlin—(AP)—Is war just around the corner? A German skipper in the port city of Bremen believes people think so.

He offers to bring passengers to "some safe place somewhere in the world in case of war"—if they pay 2,000 Deutsche marks ($800) fare. But applicants must hurry to get a reservation. His freighter is rather tiny—450 tons, and can accommodate only 25 passengers.

NOTICE

The Village of South Jacksonville will have cleanup days the 13th and 14th of April, 1949.

ROGER THE LODGER

By Elizabeth R. Roberts

COPYRIGHT BY GREENBERG PUBLISHER
DISTRIBUTED BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Mr. and Mrs. Roberts take in problems as well as lodgers when they attempt to relieve the wartime housing shortage in Great Falls, Mont. Chief problem is Roger, who invites unexpected guests to dinner and smashes up the Roberts' car. But there are other roomers. She had four engineers in the basement, but these have been moving elsewhere one by one.

XX

MONTANA has two seasons: winter and July. Unless there is rain some part of 20 of the 30 days of June, there is no crop; and in August, though the days are sunny and warm, the nights are chilly. But July is usually hot. The sun roasts hot and set hot and stored up enough heat on earth during the 15 odd hours it shone to keep us nicely warm all night. On the morning after a particularly mellow night, a harried young girl rang our door bell. She understood that our basement was empty—Pat had left the day before—and she wanted to rent it. "There are three of us," she said, indicating a parked car from which peered the anxious face of a young officer who was holding a tiny baby in his arms.

"You have a baby?" I exclaimed. "That settles it. You couldn't possibly live in our basement." I was talking fast, always hopeful of scoring if I could hold the other side from making a point. "It's too dark in summer. The leaves on the trees and shrubs shade the windows. It would be a dreary place for you to spend the day."

"Is it the baby you object to?" "No, it's too tiny to be much trouble. I only feel you can find more suitable quarters somewhere else."

"Do you know of any?" "No." The girl didn't touch the screen door knob or make any attempt to enter the house; she merely stood her ground squarely and earnestly stated her case. They were living in a one-room auto court cabin with bath; sleeping, cooking, and eating in the one room. There were no screens on the windows; the stove was an open-flame gas plate and she worried for fear fumes from it would poison her baby. They couldn't light a light at night because it attracted mosquitoes. She couldn't put the baby out to sun in the daytime unless she sat right beside the carriage, because the Missouri flowed unfenced by her door and she was afraid some of the other children in the court might push the carriage into the river. They paid $3 a day rent, nothing off by the week or month, and she didn't see how they could stand it any longer.

I HADN'T invited her in up to this point because I was afraid if I did I might have trouble getting her out. But now I felt safe for we had only an open-flame gas plate in our laundry and I knew she'd want to cook.

"Come in and I'll convince you I'm right," I said.

She called her husband and I saw as he walked in from the car that he was an Air Transport Command captain.

We filed downstairs. The young people looked thoroughly into the laundry, saying that when they were cooking they could close the door and open the windows and get rid of any gas fumes that way. "No refrigerator," I pointed out confidently.

"Oh, we have one," they chorused.

They examined the bedroom carefully; noted that sunlight was streaming in the south and east windows in spite of what I had said; that there was a huge closet and space enough by the bed for the baby's crib.

They made no comment on the sitting room, merely sank down on the davenport and relaxed. The air was at least 15 degrees cooler than out-of-doors.

"May we have it?" Captain Morgan asked.

I mentally ran over what I might have to endure: our cars? ... my kitchen? ... drinking? Obviously with their own car, ours should be safe. With a baby, the girl would be too busy to be "helpful" upstairs. They seemed to be a happy couple—there should be no drowning of sorrow. I said I realized she'd need to use the washing machine and mangle and that I'd need to, too; and in exchange for letting her cook in my laundry, I'd have to have the privilege of laundering in her kitchen. I said I wouldn't be able to undertake to keep her apartment clean.

"Oh, no," she exclaimed. She'd gladly take complete care of the entire basement and the side entry as well. This was a break for my side since there was a lot of traffic through that entrance to the kitchen. I felt buoyant, relieved of so much housekeeping, and on the strength of that lift invited Mrs. Morgan to sun herself and the baby in our garden. Rapidly we became a mutual aid society and it seemed perfectly natural for her to suggest I keep an ear open for sounds from the baby while she and Dick went after their possessions.

While they were gone, I called our neighborhood handy man. He pounded a few nails and changed the laundry into a kitchenette by hanging an old bookcase on the wall for cupboards, making a slatted top for one of the laundry trays so it would serve as a drain-board, and installing a rack to hold the dishpan in the other tub so it wouldn't be such a back-breaking job to use it as a sink. He covered the laundry table with some left-over Santas from the powder-room walls and put hooks under the laundry shelf to hang pots and pans from. There were already checked gingham curtains at the windows; the walls were painted sunlight-yellow and the woodwork apple-green. By the time the Morgans returned with their ice-box and dishes, make-do though it was, that room looked more like a kitchen than a laundry.

Put Out Fire On Hooker Street

Firemen were summoned at 7:55 o'clock Tuesday morning to fight a blaze which broke out on the roof of the home of Charles Hill, 534 Hooker street. They used a line of water from a booster pump to nip the fire, which was discovered promptly, and little damage resulted.

The fire is believed to have started from sparks from the chimney.

Report German Costs Lower Than Russian

Frankfurt, Germany—(AP)—Defeated Western Germany has a higher standard of living than victorious Soviet Russia.

Neither the Soviet worker nor the West German worker has regained his prewar standard. But a comparison of the labor that each must do to buy certain necessities shows that the German has come back faster than the Russian. For clothing and food the average West German works fewer hours than the average Russian.

Take clothing, for instance. The U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics says that a Moscow laborer must work from 483 to 571 hours to buy a man's wool, single-breasted suit. The price cuts recently proclaimed by the Soviets may have pulled down the price to from 425 to 502 hours. The West German worker pays for a wool, medium-quality suit with 130 hours of work.

A Russian worker can get a woman's woolen dress for 162 hours of work. A West German worker labors 100 hours to buy a dress. The average cost of a pound of rye bread in Russia is 25 minutes work. The West German worker buys it for 15 minutes work. A pound of wheat bread costs the Russian 55 minutes work. The West German gets it for 36 minutes work.

A Russian works about 10 hours to get a pound of butter. A West German works about 24 hours. The worker in Russia can get a pound of beef for 41 hours of work. In Western Germany a little over two hours of work yield a pound of beef. The cost in labor for soap is less in Russia than in Western Germany: 14 hours for a bar in Russia and 24 hours in Western Germany.

Japan Will Get Unsold Export Goods

Tokyo—(AP)—About 30,000,000,000 yen worth of unsold and substandard export products—ranging from linens to locomotives—are to be placed on Japan's domestic market soon. (At the official conversion rate of 270 to $1, this is more than $111,000,000 worth; it is somewhat less at going prices.)

In addition, about one-third of that amount—11,000,000,000 yen—in such products already is funneling into the domestic economy. The newspaper "Mainichi" blames "the accumulation of this stupendous bulk of unsold export goods" to "the blind production programs of manufacturers in disregard of the tastes of trade customers."

The locomotives were made under a contract that was cancelled. Other items to be sold include Christmas toys and decorations, textiles, machinery, leather, rubber and celluloid goods. Although apparently grumpy about failure to sell for foreign exchange, "Mainichi" observed that at any rate the Japanese should be enhanced.

Bonded fabrics, with fibers held together chemically rather than mechanically by the weave, have certain advantages over woven materials, including cost.

Hand Picks Bosox To Beat Out Tribe For A. L. Pennant

By JACK HAND

Orangeburg, S. C., April 12.—(AP)—It looks from here like the Boston Red Sox over the Cleveland Indians in a two-club race for the American League pennant.

New York and possibly Philadelphia have a look-in on the big prize but the Red Sox and Indians carry the heavy guns. Detroit needs plenty of breaks to figure in the race and St. Louis, Washington and Chicago are in over their heads.

The Oct. 2 finish (not guaranteed):

1. Boston
2. Cleveland
3. New York
4. Philadelphia
5. Detroit
6. St. Louis
7. Washington
8. Chicago

Indians Upset the Dope
A year ago most American League owners feared a Boston runaway and hoped the Yankees could make it a race. Cleveland, with all its veterans having their best years, upset the apple cart.

Now the Yankees, with Joe DiMaggio still the big question mark, are an uncertain factor. Boston and Cleveland are the teams to beat.

If the Red Sox get consistent pitching they have the power to break the race wide open. The big bats of Ted Williams, Vern Stephens and Bobby Doerr pack a tremendous wallop.

Joe McCarthy, starting his second year as Sox manager, figures to get more pitching help from Tex Hughson and Mickey Harris, who were of little value last season. Jack Kramer, Joe Dobson and Mel Parnell form the nucleus of a pretty fair staff. Hughson can make all the difference if he pitches up to his spring form.

Cleveland should get much better pitching than the Sox from Bob Feller, Gene Bearden, Bob Lemon and Steve Gromek. Manager Lou Boudreau, "the player of the year" in 1948, fields the best infield in baseball unless veterans Ken Keltner and Joe Gordon should slip.

Boston Should Begin Better
Boston, left at the post in 1948, should improve on its start but it hardly can better its July and August performance. The Indians left a lasting imprint by going into Fenway Park and beating the Red Sox in their own back yard in the tie playoff game for the pennant.

Another year like 1948 for Boudreau, Keltner, Gordon, Mitchell, Lemon and Bearden and the Indians are "in." That seems to be asking too much.

The Yankee fortunes really hinge on DiMaggio, slow to recuperate after an operation for removal of a spur from his heel.

Without DiMaggio, the Yanks are just another club with good pitching. With the Yankee Clipper clocking on all cylinders, they could be in the race again.

MAY CONTRACT LEADS ADVANCE IN WHEAT; OTHER GRAINS LAG

Chicago, April 12.—(AP)—Wheat moved ahead on the board of trade today, recovering quickly from some early setback based on the agricultural department's forecast of another bumper crop. Other grains did not show the strength of wheat.

The May contract led the bread cereal higher. Traders noted that the house late yesterday voted down an amendment to the ECA bill which would have required the ECA to buy farm products only from commodity credit corporation supplies until these were exhausted.

As a result, traders said, the government can continue to buy wheat in the open market after April 30, when the CCC will come into possession of large quantities of wheat. Some traders thought a tight situation might develop in the May wheat contract.

Corn was depressed by a big increase in bookings, which totaled around 100,000 bushels. Stocks on farms are at record levels for this time of year. Oats were mixed while soybeans and lard held under the previous close most of the day.

Receipts were: Wheat 8 cars, corn 36, oats 23 and soybeans 1. Wheat closed 1 to 1 1/2 higher, May $2.18-1/2, corn was 1/2 lower to $1.33-1/2, oats were 1/2 higher, May $1.24, soybeans were unchanged to 1/2 lower, May $2.20-1/2, and lard was 1/2 to 20 cents a hundred pounds lower, May $11.20.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE BASEBALL TEAM, 1949 EDITION

Joe Brooks' 1949 edition of the Illinois College baseball team has enjoyed moderate success in its diamond ventures to date. The Blueboy nine dropped the season's opener to the Concordia Preachers at St. Louis by a disappointing score. However, they came back in fine style and dumped Galesburg Extension club 4 to 1 in their initial home conflict of the season Monday afternoon. The Brook-coached crew will tangle with the Scott Field soldier nine on the home field Friday P.M.

Browns Get 2 Runs In 9th To Defeat Texas Twins 4-2

Sherman, Tex., April 12.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns put on a successful ninth inning rally to nip the Sherman-Denison twins 4 to 2 today.

Sherman Lollar opened with a single. Paul Lehner doubled, and an intentional pass to Ed Pellagrini filled the bases. Then Gil Castillo of the twins missed Roy Sievers' infield fly and new Garver, who ran for Lollar, scored. Bob Dillinger got a squeeze hit for the final tally. St. Louis (A) . . . 000 100 012—4 10 1. Sherman-Denison (B) . . . 000 020 000—2 3 1.

Training Camp Briefs

Atlanta, Ga., April 12.—(AP)—Connie Mack, 86-year-old manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, is not losing any sleep over his opening pitching selections. He announced yesterday that Dick Fowler, veteran right-hander, will pitch against the Washington Senators at the nation's capital on April 18.

Lou Brissie, southpaw sophomore, will open the A's home season the next day against the Boston Red Sox.

Birmingham, Ala., April 12.—(AP)—Billy Meyer, Pittsburgh Pirate skipper, is still undecided about his regular first baseman but is leaning toward Eddie Stevens, who held the post last season.

Less Fleming, former Cleveland Indian, is giving Stevens a fight for the job, but hasn't been fielding as well as Stevens. Both are hitting a shade better than .300.

Louisville, Ky., April 12.—(AP)—Schoolboy Rowe, Philadelphia Phillie pitcher said yesterday he had turned down an offer of $14,500 a year to act as a good-will ambassador for an automobile concern and would remain in baseball—at least another year.

Houston, Tex., April 12.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs today optioned Danny Ynch, 22-year-old infielder, to their Des Moines farm club. The Cubs lost their sixth game played against National League opposition last night when the St. Louis Cardinals pounded them 7-1. The two clubs continue their series tonight with Bob Rush slated to face the Cards' Harry Brecheen.

Jackson, Miss., April 12.—(AP)—Manager Leo Durocher's plan of making his New York Giants a running club is causing some grief. Jack Lohrke singled in the second inning in yesterday's 9-3, loss to the Cleveland Indians with Johnny Mize on second and Bob Thomson on first. Thomson raced around second on the hit and headed for third only to find that Durocher had flagged down the slow footed Mize. Thomson was an easy out.

Louisville, Ky., April 12.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds, here for a two-game series with the Philadelphia Phillies, may not have Johnny Vander Meer for pitching duty on the season's opening day.

A pulled thigh muscle proved more serious than thought, and trainers said Vandy might not be able to work against the Cards in the first tilt of regular season.

Houston, Tex., April 12.—(AP)—Ron Northey may win a regular berth in the St. Louis Cardinals outfield yet. He stepped into the lineup last night when Red Schoendienst had a sore back. Ron pounded out a three run homer, singled and walked as he paced the Cards to a 7-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Regular meeting of Wilbur chapter O.E.S. will meet Thursday evening at 7:30. Work.

High Court Ruled In 1922 That Baseball Didn't Come Under Anti-Trust Laws

(Editor's note: This is another in a series of stories on the Gardella case and baseball's reserve clause.)

BY TED SMITHS

New York, April 7.—(AP)—Back in 1922 the U. S. Supreme Court said baseball was a peculiar business and not under the anti-trust laws.

Now Danny Gardella, Max Lanier and Fred Martin say it is just plain business, period—and very much under those laws.

Danny with his attorney, Fred, Eric A. Johnson, sued for $300,000 damages because he was banned from organized baseball—couldn't work, in other words—after playing in the Mexican league in 1946.

Federal Judge Henry Goodard on July 14, 1948, dismissed the case but on Feb. 9, 1949, the U. S. court of appeals in New York reversed the ruling, and allowed that radio and television are new factors.

Lanier and Martin promptly joined in with actions for $2,500,000 damages. They, too, were under ban for the Mexican jaunt. However, Lanier and Martin had signed contracts and started the season with the Cardinals when they went south. Gardella, now a $36 a week hospital attendant, had not even signed.

To the baseball club owner, the center of the legal fight is the attack on the reserve clause which makes players virtually the private property of their clubs for their playing careers. Baseball says it must have it.

Here in non-legal language is Johnson's argument that so impressed the circuit court of appeals:

He explains he is suing under the Sherman anti-trust law and Clayton act—in other words, that baseball is more than a sport. He charges it is a business.

Johnson makes three points in his "appellant's brief."

First, that baseball is "engaged in commerce among the several states and with foreign nations." He backs this up by telling about the sale of advertising by ball clubs to radio and television which cross state lines and hence come under federal laws.

Second, "the Washington club and the American league are immediately engaged in restraint of trade and exercise a monopoly over professional baseball in violation" of the two anti-trust laws. Since this happens in the District of Columbia, that alone would bring baseball under those laws.

Third, "The sale of players under a binding reserve clause by the major league clubs from their 'farm' teams in trade or commerce among the several states and with foreign nations."

Under this third point Johnson tells about the federal league case. That was the league that challenged the majors back in 1914-15.

He said baseball officials testified in a lawsuit then "that the reserve clause was not a hindrance contractual obligation and that a player who disregarded it by joining an independent organization did not break a contract."

Phoenix—(NEA)—The Giants put you in mind of a juke box when the needle ticks.

Gotta have pitching—Gotta have pitching—Gotta have pitching. Again and again the mournful lyrics ring in Leo Durocher's ears.

Gotta have pitching—Gotta have pitching—Gotta have pitching. The New York Nationals get runs, but they can't stop the other side from getting more.

Two years ago the Polo Grounds broke all records with a collective 221 home run total—and finished fourth.

Last season their home run production dropped to 164, but still 56 more than any other club hit. All it got them was fifth place, and Mel Ott was washed out in the procedure.

The pitching picture hasn't changed much for Manager Durocher, starting his first full campaign at the head of the Horace Stoneham forces since the surprise unseating of Ott last midsummer.

That's why Hank Behrman, publicized extra-curricular activities and all, was purchased from the Dodgers.

There's Larry Jansen, who dropped off the 20-game pace to 18 victories last year, but he remains the one dependable.

The others make the Giants unpredictable. Dave Koss, who always seems on the verge of arriving but never has; Clint Hartung, for whom the same can be said; Sheldon Jones, Monte Kennedy and Ray Fout. Jones is a sound pitcher, ranks next to Jansen, but the rest are in the twilight zone.

Sam Webb came in from Jersey City late last season, and had a 2-1 record. Durocher likes him. Minneapolis shipped in Bill Ayers, no newcomer, and Mario Picone.

Have Been Hit Hard

With few exceptions they have all received harsh treatment in the spring games—good one day, bad the next.

Sounds familiar, doesn't it? Durocher is wary about expressing an opinion about where his club will find itself Oct. 2, but — and here's a complication — President Stoneham isn't.

He thinks the Giants can win the pennant, and has said so out loud in the presence of total strangers.

Phils Don't Know Who To Leave Behind In Minors

Louisville, Ky., April 12.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies, once the lowliest of "have not" ball clubs, are the "have" club of the National league.

All spring the Phils have been scouting for deals to unload their surplus of infielders and catchers. Up to now they haven't hit the right combination.

The season opening now is only six days away and soon the Phils will have to start paring their overloaded roster.

First line trading bait list Dick Sisler, Bert Haas, Andy Seminick, Ken Silvestri and perhaps Ralph Caballero and some of the club's pitching staff.

Sisler and Haas both are first basemen although Sisler can play the outfield and Haas is at home at third base as well as the outfield. But both first base and the outfield are set.

Seminick and Silvestri are catchers. Besides them the Phils have Stan Lopata, highly-rated rookie, and veteran Hal Wagner.

DiMag Again Goes To Hospital For Treatment Of Heel

Fort Worth, April 12.—(AP)—Joe DiMaggio, $100,000-a-year star of the New York Yankees, left for Baltimore by air today to have his injured right heel treated at Johns Hopkins hospital.

He will be lost to the club for the start of the season next week. But he denied any thought of retiring from baseball.

The drastic turn of events came after the great centerfielder was given a four-hour examination by Dr. T. M. Girard, a Dallas specialist. Dr. Girard was recommended to the Yankees by Dr. George Bennett of Baltimore, the surgeon who operated on DiMaggio's heel last November.

"He will be there 10 days," Dr. Girard said, "taking X-rays and inoculations."

The specialist described the heel trouble as a "hot condition," not necessarily a regrowth of the old bone spur, but an irritation which requires rest and a new method of treatment.

Red Sox Blast Orioles 10 To 4

Baltimore, Md., April 12.—(AP)—Right-hander Joe Dobson pitched all the way for the Red Sox today as the American league slugger defeated the Baltimore Orioles of the International League 10-4. It was the seventh victory in as many games against minor league opposition for the highly regarded American leaguers.

Dobson gave up 10 hits, one a two run homer by Bob Repass into the left field seats in the second inning. Yef Stephens and big Walt Dropo both hit home runs for the winning Sox. Ted Williams and Dom DiMaggio each hit safely their first three times at bat.

Boston (AL) . . . 106 101 001—10 13 0. Baltimore (IL) 120 000 001—4 10 4. Dobson and Batts; Maldovan, Wittig (3), Payne (8) and Saucier.

When you see Walker Cooper's name in the lineup the natural inclination is to say the Giants have no catching troubles, but that could be wrong.

Like Mize, Cooper, now 34, has to hit a bucketful to be worth his salt. A knee injury all but immobilized him defensively. He is no longer the peer of the National League's pad and mask men. Mickey Livingston will be behind him. Wes Westrum and Sal Yvars, who aren't stangers in the Polo Grounds, may be sent out to make room for someone else. In an emergency Franks can be placed on the active list.

The outfield is Whitey Lockman, Willard Marshall and Bobby Thomson, with Don Mueller and Les Layton in reserve.

They give Durocher an extra hour's sleep at night. You couldn't ask for a more rugged collection of fly-snappers.

But the pitchers won't stop dancing on the foot of Leo Durocher's bed.

Spike Wilson's Nine Takes 10 To 1 Win From Meredosia Crew

The ISD baseballers took a firm toe-hold in the PMBC conference race yesterday afternoon when they tamped the Meredosia nine 10 to 1 on the local field.

Eddy Raffel, lean Tiger fireballer, downed the Meredosia batters in fine order all afternoon, limiting them to but two hits. Both Meredosia bingles were garnered by Simon, Indian third baseman.

The westenders drew first blood in their half of the opening inning when Franco was retired, Billy Yates slipped a single through the Dosh infield, Alta Hood followed through with a double and Stanley Kwiat stepped to the platter and banged out a triple to score both runs easily. Eddy Raffel reached first base on an error, with Kwiat scoring, and he, in turn was driven in when Carlstedt singled.

Both teams went scoreless for the next two innings, and then, Meredosia tallied their only run when Tedger and Hyatt walked and Tedger advanced to third on a wild pitch. Henderson hit to Cecil at second base, who tried for a double play allowing Tedger to score the single Meredosia run.

Billy Yates started things off once more for the Tigers in the fifth inning when he got on base by a walk. Alto Hood hit safely, and Villani blasted a home run to center field which counted three more runs for the home team.

Score Three Times In The Sixth
The Wislomen wound things up in the sixth inning when Cecil reached first safely on an error. Merriman hit safely and Hood again tripled. Hood later scored when Stanley Kwiat smacked out another triple.

Alta Hood was the leading ISD hitter with three safeties out of four trips to the plate.

The ISD nine now holds a conference record of two wins and no defeats. They go against Mt. Sterling at the Brown county field Saturday afternoon in an attempt to protect the loop lead which they now hold.

Evansville Whips Wheaton 13 To 4

Evansville, Ind., April 12.—(AP)—Pitcher Jack Hafele allowed only four hits as his Evansville teammates drubbed Wheaton, 13-4, in a college baseball game today.

The hurler tired in the ninth frame and let the Crusaders push across all their runs on three walks, a single, a double and an infield out.

The Evansville batters racked three Wheaton pitchers for 12 hits and capitalized on three errors by the visitors. Start Darwin Cooper was the loser.

MORGAN TO CALIFORNIA—1849

The Wagons Leave For The Gold Regions

By Cecil Tendick

The residence at Evergreen Farm built by Mr. Rees after his return from California in 1859. The farm is now managed by his foster grandson, Jovial Milford Rees, steam engine fancier and an early advocate of tractor farming. He sponsored the nationally known Rees station plowing contests for 15 years as a proving ground for the various makes and types of equipment.

Independence, Mo., was bustling in May, 1849. For some years it had been the favorite jumping off place for the Santa Fe, California and Oregon trails. Gold in California had boomed business.

Here the companies assembled, organized traveling divisions, elected officers, repaired wagons and harness, provisioned and stood inspection. Outfits in poor shape were ordered out of the train.

Candidates For Mayor Share Local Platform

The two candidates for mayor shared the platform in Washington school auditorium Tuesday evening when they appeared on a "Meet the Candidates" program sponsored by the Jacksonville branch of the League of Women Voters. Mrs. Friedrich Engelbach was the chairman.

The running mates of Mayor Ernest L. Hoagland, Republican, and John S. Wright, Democratic candidate, were introduced to the small crowd.

Mayor Hoagland, the first speaker, stated he was "a candidate running on the record, a record that is here and will be here for years to come."

"I believe every pledge made by me or any of my running mates in previous elections has been kept," he declared.

The mayor reviewed the work that has been done during his administration and outlined his plans for the future. He reminded his listeners that Jacksonville is one of the few cities in the country that is debt-free, reviewed the growth of the city utilities during recent years, discussed the improvement of Jacksonville streets and the chances for continued progress, particularly the completion of the downtown loop improvement project, erection of street signs, better street lights and "a real zoning ordinance."

His opponent complimented the mayor for "the sincerity and directness of his address."

The Democratic candidate said he favored cleaner and better streets. "Nearly four years after the war the people feel that it is time the street department rendered the same type of service, such as cleaning and washing the square and streets, that they enjoyed under Mayor Vasconcellos. Many people talk with feeling that the city didn't get their money's worth in some of the street improvement projects completed in recent years."

He also advocated the formation of a milk ordinance that "would in time develop a Jacksonville milk shed, so we could demand grade A milk instead of being grateful for grade C." Wright also advocated "extension of water and sewer mains as rapidly as possible and the formation of a citizen's committee to investigate the possibility of municipal garbage collections."

The proposed public forum on the question of daylight time failed to arouse much interest. One League member spoke against it, nobody defended fast time.

Rural Leaders Say Vocational Studies Fine, Latin Poor

Urbana—Farm leaders in Illinois say vocational agriculture and home economics courses have the most value in educating rural youth. They list five other school subjects as excellent, five more as good, and they consider Latin and other foreign languages poor.

These results come from a survey of what rural leaders think of country school subjects. Dr. David Lindstrom, rural sociologist in the Illinois College of Agriculture, made the survey. He received 863 replies from all but two counties.

At least eight out of 10 farm leaders place vocational agriculture and home economics at the top of the list. Industrial arts was considered a "must" by more than two-thirds of the rural leaders. Physical education, English, and mathematics were lauded as indispensable by almost as many leaders. And a little over half the replies called bookkeeping an excellent subject.

Most leaders thought that fine arts, typing, business organization, social studies were desirable, but not essential. Almost two-thirds of them said Latin and foreign languages were poor.

$20 Hog Fails To Appear, First Time In 29 Months

Chicago, April 12—(AP)—The twenty dollar hog failed to show up here today. He was missed. It was the first time in two years, five months and 29 days that he hadn't arrived.

The best price for hogs today was $19.65 a hundred pounds, down 60 cents from the top paid yesterday. Not since Oct. 14, 1946, the last day of OPA ceilings, have hogs sold so low.

Although hams from today's hog arrivals will not be available in time for Easter, packers said a recent price slump had made ham a much better buy than its traditional Easter rival—leg of lamb.

Hogs have declined over the past several weeks. In the same period, lamb prices have soared to record highs for this time of year. Meat from hogs comprises a little less than 50 per cent of the nation's total meat supply. That from lambs less than 5 per cent.

Some packers weren't even buying lambs at current prices, which today were around $31.00 a hundred pounds.

May Attempt Support
The drop in hog prices today followed upon a statement yesterday by Agriculture Secretary Brannan that the government may have to buy pork from packers to support live hog costs. It is pledged to provide support this week at $16.75 a hundred pounds for good and choice hogs.

Today the market ranged from $16.50 for just good hogs up to the top of $19.65.

Meat packers said they didn't know what the government would do with the pork, if it should buy some. They said the government in the early days of the war got rid of pork acquired in its support buying program by sending it abroad.

Another possibility, it was said, was for the government to give pork to people on relief through a food stamp plan.

Lard Depressing Factor
Most important factor in the price downturn, according to H. M. Conway, market analyst for the National Livestock Producers Association, is a sharp break in lard and other fats and oil prices. Lard is an important hog product.

Loose lard was offered here today at $10.00 a hundred pounds, lowest since November, 1941. That compared with former OPA ceilings ranging from $11.15 to $14.05.

Livestock men said the fact the twenty dollar hog failed to arrive today didn't mean he was gone for good. He could be back tomorrow, or later this week. Or he might return in mid-summer, when receipts dwindle.

Today's price compared with an all-time record high of $31.85 on Aug. 19, 1948, and the last OPA ceiling of $16.25.
